

Manufacturing Blindman Brewery

Success Story

Blindman Brewing is a new industry for Lacombe and one that has been growing in popularity across Alberta as of late. Hans Doef and Dave Vanderplaat, the two initial founders of the brewery, reside in Lacombe and saw the potential of a smaller community embracing such this initiative. When three partners joined from Edmonton, (Matt Willerton, Kirk Zembal, Shane Groendahl) and the head brewer (Adam Campbell) was recruited, the whole business concept was successfully realized.

Blindman has been making delicious beer now since October 2015. They are proud of the strong support they receive from the community and in turn Blindman is more than happy to support community initiatives within the City of Lacombe.
